

Father Factor

Father Factor began as a fictionalized short story about the life of a family living in Napa, California. As time passed, so did the story. What remained, in the end, were the oil pastel prints that I created for the beginning of each chapter of my tale.